PRACRATINATION.

Once again the lowering cloud of examination time hangs huge and menacingly above us. There are some who mark its approach even as it tops the horizon, and in all wisdom make gradual yet thorough preparation for its inevitable arrival. This happy state of preparedness is unfortunately not universal. As each and every examination draws near there are certain individuals who in the rush of other engagements have failed to perceive the approach of the inevitable—or perceiving—have delayed preparation until too late. And now, with a start of incredulity, they awaken to find themselves actually enveloped in the shadow of the impending ordeal—frantic and panic-stricken in their state of unpreparedness. Then follows the brief period into which is hastily crammed as much as possible of the accumulated work which might have been leisurely and thoroughly done during the past few months of idleness. In feverish haste and nerve-racking anxiety the process of "cranking" is resorted to—with what result? Often a dismal failure, or in happier cases a mere pass, which, though under the circumstances is gratifying, leaves a deep feeling of dissatisfaction.

Such a culmination naturally instigates an inquiry on the part of the would-be student with regard to the cause of so unsatisfactory termination of the year's (!) work. And almost without exception he traces it to an unconscious habit of procrastination.

The student is too liable to lull his conscience with the mere fact that the examinations are still in the remote distance, and having thus continued to quiet his sense of duty it becomes dull and ineffective, and he rushes on into impending disaster. As Bacon says: "It were better to meet some dangers half way, though they come nothing near, than to keep too long a watch upon their approaches; for if a man watch too long, it is odds he will fall asleep."

Consistent and conscientious study throughout the year is bound to result in success. "There is surely no greater wisdom than well to time the beginnings and onsets of things." The examinations are inevitable, and it is sheer suicide to walk blindfolded and unprepared into their midst.

The duty of denouncing what we are bound to consider a prevalent evil has lead us to express our views on this question rather than any idea of warning the unwary. The eleventh hour is at hand, and the unhappy undergraduate who has thus far ignored the inevitable cannot now hope to retrieve the lost opportunities of the past. However, surely an unfortunate can do no better now than to put forth every possible effort during the remaining days of the term in an earnest endeavour to redeem those hours and days which he has so unwisely sacrificed.

ARE COLLEGE ACTIVITIES WORTH WHILE?

Students who have most of their college days behind them are bound, sooner or later, to question whether they have used wise judgment in directing their interests. If they have confined their efforts to getting the fullest benefit from their class room work, they wonder if they have been too narrow in their interpretation of college education; and if they have given the larger share of their attention to extra-curricular interests, they doubt whether they have been justified in slighting their studies. In case the student engages in only a limited amount of outside work, so that his scholastic standing does not suffer, the problem is, of course, easy of solution. Under such circumstances, it is conceded that the outside activities are beneficial in that they give the undergraduate a homeopathic dose of the bitter medicine which the world is said to be waiting to administer to him.

There are, however, a half-dozen student offices which constitute such a heavy drain on their holders' time and efforts that it is found impossible to do justice to even a light course of study. Here is where the question arises, Does it pay? Is the holder of such a position more unsound in his view of college life than the opposite type who lives a life of "academic seclusion" and who looks forward to the Phi Beta Kappa key as the key to success? Again, if the head of a student publication such as the Daily or the Gopher gets so much experience, why should he not go out into the world where he can get his experience at first hand and undiluted, and without the distraction of occasionally having to attend classes? Or if it is true that the student editor receives training equivalent to that offered by the journalism department, and that the business manager gets the equivalent of courses in economics, why not recognize the fact by giving them university credit in journalism or economics, thus augmenting their trifling stipend, and enabling them to carry a lighter programme of additional work? Or should he be prepared, when he enters the office, to make a big sacrifice?

These are merely some of the questions that have perplexed us lately, and we do not now undertake to answer them. They are thrown out in the hope that someone who has gone through the mill will shed the light of experience on a problem that at some time or other every student must face.—The Minnesota Daily.

ARTS SUPPER-SMOKER.

It seems that the Arts men are a little slow in getting their tickets for the Smoker-Supper next Wednesday. The Arts Undergrad. Society Executive has gone to a good deal of trouble in getting a good caterer; to him they must give the number to be present at latest this evening. Consequently all the members of the Society are urged to get their tickets at once from the Janitor or the members of the Social Committee. The Executive has undertaken a big responsibility, relying on the unanimous support of the Arts men. Surely no member of the Arts Undergrad. can feel that he is free from a part of this responsibility shouldered by the Executive. Earlier in the year a cry was made for social recreation; here it is, Arts man, go to it now!

NOW QUEEN'S PROFESSOR.

George L. Guillet, M.Sc., '08, has spent the last few years in Montreal. Mr. Guillet is now professor of Mechanical Engineering at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario.

Before assuming his position at Queen's he was connected with the mechanical engineering department of McGill, acting in the capacity of Associate Professor.

Mr. Mathewson's Medal.

Signal honour was paid Mr. Edward P. Mathewson, Sci. '85, by the Mining and Metallurgical Institute of America in sending Mr. W. R. Ingalls to the Canadian Mining Institute meeting Thursday, to make a presentation to him of a gold medal "for distinguished services." The institute choosing for this ceremony the city of his birth where he graduated from McGill 32 years ago. Mr. Ingalls read the long list of important contributions to mining knowledge and mining lore made by Mr. Mathewson in the course of a varied and ever progressing career in Montana, Mexico, Chili, Canada and other places. In 1911 he had been given the gold medal of the Institute of Mining and Metallurgy of Great Britain. As Mr. Ingalls presented the medal seven other visitors from south of the border rose to their feet to signify that they were present to lend force to this ceremony.

Mr. Mathewson, in thanking the Institute for the honor, gave an amusing account of his own career in which he managed to give a great deal of the credit for his own great success to the efficient assistance he had had, to the capital which had backed his investigations, and to humble workmen and furnacemen who had given him exceedingly helpful and practical hints. A vigorous McGill yell as he rose to speak showed that the University was represented.

Rev. Charles Paterson-Smyth, Arts '10, has been appointed rector of St. Philip's Church, Toronto, so press advises state. Rev. Mr. Paterson-Smyth is now curate of Grace Church, Brantford, Ont., and is a son of Ven. Archdeacon Paterson-Smyth, Montreal. He took his degree in Theology at Trinity University, Toronto.

The marriage took place here on Tuesday of Dr. Edgar C. Levine, Med. '13, son of Mrs. R. M. Levine, Fox River, Gaspe, Que., and Miss Ethel Kaufman.

The marriage took place at three o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the Oak Room of the Windsor Hotel, of Irene, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Blumenthal, of Westmont Boulevard, to Mr. Charles A. Goldstein, Arts '15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Goldstein, Westmont Boulevard. Rabbi Samuel Schwartz, of Temple Emmanuel-El, officiated.

Old Graduates Die.

A Ripley, Ont., despatch says:—On Friday there passed away at his home here one of the unique personalities of this Scottish community, and one of the most useful of Ontario's pioneers, in the person of D. A. McCrimmon, M.D. He was born in Glenagarry county in 1836, the son of Alex. McCrimmon and Jane Moss.

In 1865 and 1866 he taught school in Lucknow, but resigned to take the study of medicine. In 1869 he graduated from McGill Medical College, Montreal, taking the medal in biology. He immediately began the practice of medicine in Lucknow. His remarkable record in cures of meningitis in the great epidemic of Huron county drew doctors from all parts to confer with him.

After some years' practice in Lucknow he crossed the ocean and took brilliant post-graduate courses for the degrees of M.R.C.S. and L.R.S.P. Owing to very serious illness after his return from Edinburgh, he moved to Underwood, Bruce county, and on regaining his health settled in Ripley in 1885.

While in Lucknow he was the "live wire" of the noted Caledonian Society of Western Ontario, and for twelve years was its chief.

In 1871 he married Elizabeth Williamson, of Lucknow, and she and seven children survive him. These are: Horace, of Vancouver; Hamish, of Chicago; Alex, of Ruby, Alaska; Mrs. Dr. Coulter of Philadelphia; Kate, at home; Mrs. (Rev.) J. M. Horton, of Kingsville, and Adelaide, at home. All the doctor's brothers and sisters are alive, nine in all, and their aggregate ages make 666 years.

Dr. McCrimmon was a Liberal and a Presbyterian. One of the oldest graduates of the Faculty of Medicine passed away on Sunday morning in the person of Dr. Charles Ault, Med. '55, whose death occurred suddenly at his residence, 89 St. Mark street. Dr. Ault had been in poor health for some time, but his death was most unexpected.

Dr. Ault was born in Aultsville, Ont., on July 17th, 1833, and after attending the local schools entered McGill, and took his degree in Medicine in 1855. For a time he practised in Richmond, Ont., later coming to Montreal, where he was associated with the firm of James Roy and Company, and subsequently medical examiner and manager of the North America Life Insurance Co. The late Dr. Ault had been a trustee of the University of Montreal for a number of years. He was of United Empire Loyalist stock. Mrs. Ault has been dead for more than ten years. Dr. Ault was an uncle of the late Prof. James Chalmers Cameron, Med. '74, of Wellington A. Cameron, of Toronto, barrister, Arts '86, and great uncle of Dakers Cameron, Arts '03.

WISCONSIN CO-ED ATHLETES.

Athletic statistics of the University of Wisconsin for the first semester show that 1,114 women participated in athletics.

Baseball, swimming, bowling and archery were the most popular of the co-ed sports. Swimming had 578 women enthusiasts, basketball 250, bowling 350, and archery 275. There are 550 co-eds in the university dancing classes, while very few women students are taking simple gymnasium work. Miss R. M. Trilling, head of the department, opposes intercollegiate meets for women.

A NEW SAYING.

The old saying that an individual is "between the devil and the sea" should now be changed to "between the submarines and the airships." And while speaking of the subject, university students are in somewhat the same situation in regard to ventilation. If they open the windows of their class rooms they freeze and if they leave the windows closed they smother.—Kansas.

VENUS 10¢ PENCIL

No matter what course you're taking you need this famous pencil!

Because of the superlative quality of material, and workmanship, VENUS is admittedly the finest pencil it is possible to make.

If you like a thick soft lead that marks so that you can read the writing half way across the room, choose the soft degrees 6B—5B—4B.

For short-hand notes or easy writing 3B—2B—B (medium soft) are popular.

For sketching, general writing purposes, etc., HB—F—H—2H (medium) will prove desirable.

For drafting, a medium hard pencil gives the best results and you'll like 3H—4H—5H—6H.

For very thin, narrow lines for extremely accurate graphical charts, maps, details, etc., 7H—8H—9H are available.

Look for the distinctive water mark finish on each of the 17 black degrees and hard and medium copying.

Your professors will confirm these statements as to the merits of VENUS pencils.

For sale at the college bookstore.

Lieut. John S. Brisbane, Sci. '14, who left Canada with the 5th Canadian Pioneers' Battalion, writes to a classmate from Bramshott Camp, where he is now stationed with the 25th Reserve Battalion, as follows: "Just a line to let you know of my change in address. The 5th Pioneers were broken up about a week ago, and I landed in the above-named battalion, which unit reinforces Pioneer and Infantry battalions in France. I hope to get on a draft to a Pioneer battalion some day. Was in Scotland over the New Year, and had a whale of a time. While in London I met Bill Abbott, Bill Pennock, Kev. Last evening Murray G. Brooks continued his series of talks on Ceylon and its peoples. A fair sized audience, composed of members of the Y. W. C. A. and of the Y. M. C. A., was present. In the first talk Mr. Brooks gave a historic talk on Ceylon. A week ago he sketched the industrial life of the inhabitants of the island, whilst last evening he showed scenes of a general character. Next Sunday evening Mr. Brooks will complete his series of talks on this interesting island.

IMPERIAL THEATRE.

There will be three changes of programme at the Imperial during the coming week, each attraction presenting two players high in the art of screen acting. "The Awakening of Helena Richie" is the play for today and Tuesday. In it appears the leader of the great actor family, Ethel Barrymore, and accompanying her is Robert Cummings, whose personal appearance on the theatre stage last year gave a pleasing glimpse of his splendid personality. The story is the dramatization of Margaret Deland's much discussed novel of the same name, and with screen presentation maintains the genuineness of character of its name role, and the fickleness of forgiveness in general. Many plays have been given on both stage and screen discussing the chances of life of a woman once fallen below the moral standard under trying circumstances, yet in this story the victim of the fault is not so much the woman herself as those for whom she cares. It calls for a consideration of circumstances that prompted a deed more than on the deed itself, and the village minister is a convert to the teachings of practical life when the powerful episode of the story is when the minister has to decide whether the woman who has lived a lie is capable of rearing a child placed under his care. The whole story will create much talk and keen interest.

The two players on the programme of Wednesday and Thursday are Holbrook Blinn and Ethel Clayton, who are to be in "The Hidden Scar." Sincerity of preachment is the keynote of this photoplay. The daily cry of what one "would" do often falls considerably short of what one "does" do, especially with regard to friendship, and this picture, in a virile and dramatic story, will make all who see it retrospect. It does not, however, dominate or dictate; it is a picture that leaves something to think about.

The third and last of E. H. Southern's wonderful contributions to the screen is to be shown next Friday and Saturday. The subject is "The Man of Mystery," a play of to-day, entirely different from his previous two. It is a drama of a man who returned from the valley of the shadow to live again and to obtain vengeance among those who thought him dead, and it is—Southern—a recommendation unexcelled on stage or screen.

Tackle It!

Whatever the proposition is, tackle it. Don't wait. Dive in and hang on. Men who succeed don't stop to see how hard a thing is to do, they just jump in and do it. But these men—the men who tackle things need heft—heft of the brain as well as the brawn. And this is where comes in—building heft. Here is a cereal that is all food. Here is a breakfast food that will see you through the day's work. Clean, crisp and refreshing Shredded Wheat has proved its value in class room, athletics and the broader life that follows college. Shredded Wheat is on the training table of nearly every college and university in Canada and the United States. A good habit cannot be started too soon; why not start in with Shredded Wheat to-day?

THE WEEK'S DECORATIONS.

Military Cross.

Martin, Lieut. Charles S., Arts '17, Canadian Infantry.

Lieut.-Col. S. W. Hewetson.

A sufferer from nervous breakdown and shell shock for some time, Lieut.-Colonel Samuel William Hewetson, Med. '93, officer commanding No. 8 Canadian Field Ambulance in France, has succumbed, according to an official announcement of the Records' Office.

Lieut.-Colonel Hewetson was born in Kincardine, Ont., on November 5, 1872, and after attending schools there entered McGill University, from which he graduated in 1893, with the degree of M.D., C.M. After graduation Lieut.-Colonel Hewetson practised for a time at Georgetown, Ont., and then went west, locating in Calgary. Later he moved to Pincher Creek, Alta., where he enlisted in 1914 with the Canadian Mounted Rifles as a medical officer. He had previously held the rank of major in the Army Medical Corps of the Militia. After some months' service with the C. M. R.'s, Lieut.-Colonel Hewetson became Assistant Director of Medical Services with Calgary as headquarters, and finally was placed in command of No. 8 Field Ambulance when it was organized a year ago. He had been in France for several months doing service in advanced medical posts. He was unmarried, and was a Presbyterian in religion.

Lieut. William C. Ross.

Lieut. William Cameron Ross, a graduate of the class of Arts '15, and well known in athletic circles while at the University, is reported wounded in a late casualty list, having evidently been injured in the recent operation in which the Canadians raided the enemy's lines. A press despatch from London states that Lieut. Ross has arrived at a hospital there slightly wounded by gunshot in the back and left arm. He has been serving in France with a British Columbia Highland battalion.

Lieut. Ross was born in Winnipeg on February 3, 1894, the son of Hon. W. R. Ross, now of Victoria, B.C. After attending the schools of Victoria he entered McGill College of British Columbia, and came to McGill University in 1913 as a member of the third year in Arts. He was graduated in 1915. While a student he played class and faculty football, and was tried out by Frank Shaughnessy for a place on the forward line of his senior team, being of a heavy build. He also competed in the activities of the Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing Club, and was University champion heavy-weight boxer in 1914-15. At the intercollegiate meet in Toronto in that year he was defeated. Lieut. Ross also served on the editorial staff of McGill Daily. He is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity.

An enthusiastic soldier, Lieut. Ross became a member of the McGill Contingent, Canadian Officers' Training Corps when it was re-organized in the fall of 1914, and before the session was over rose to the rank of company sergeant-major, at the same time qualifying for a commission. Upon graduation he returned to his home in Victoria, and there took out a commission in a Highland battalion. He has been on the front in France for some time. A brother, Lieut. H. M. Ross, Arts '16, was wounded a short time ago.

Lieut. A. M. Robertson.

Lieut. Andrew Murray Robertson, M.C., Sci. '16, who is reported wounded, was prominent in student activities before he enlisted originally as a runner in the 21st Battery, Canadian Field Artillery, when it was formed in the winter of 1914-15. Born at Kewatin, Ont., on July 18, 1894, Lieut. Robertson was educated at the Montreal High School before coming to McGill to enter upon a course in transportation. During his college career, Lieut. Robertson held several important undergraduate offices. He was at one time secretary of the McGill Union, and also was a member of the business board of the 1915 Annual, and of the editorial staff of McGill Daily.

Lieut. Robertson's military career began with his membership in the old McGill Contingent, Canadian Officers' Training Corps, which was commanded by Major C. M. McGervey, and which preceded the present battalion. In this unit he held the rank of corporal. When the C. O. T. C. was reorganized as a battalion under Major A. C. Geddes, he took rank as a non-commissioned officer, but left the C. O. T. C. to join the 21st Battery as a gunner. After arriving in England he was on February 16, 1915, granted a commission in the Canadian Engineers, and for some time he has been with the 3rd Field Company in France. On January 2 last Lieut. Robertson was awarded the Military Cross for gallantry at the front. He

THE WEEK IN REVIEW.

For leading a party in a successful trench raid with great gallantry and for succeeding in capturing two unwounded prisoners, Lieut. Charles S. Martin, a former undergraduate with Arts '17, has been awarded the Military Cross. He is the second member of the class to be so decorated.

Two McGill senior hockey players, Behan and Scott, were members of the City League All-Star team which defeated the Montreal League All-Stars in two games played during the week.

Frank Shaughnessy, now a lieutenant in the Canadian Field Artillery, states that he will be back to coach the McGill senior team after the war, provided he does not run up against a German shell or bullet at the front.

H. H. Pitts, Med. '18, and F. L. Poulin, Med. '19, will contest the presidency of the Students' Society on the 16th, while C. E. M. Tuohy, Med. '18, and J. B. McLeod, Sci. '17, will fight it out for the vice-presidency of the Students' Union. All other offices have been filled by acclamation as follows:

President, McGill Union — D. M. Sutherland, Sci. '18.

President Athletic Association—Donald C. Smelzer, Med. '18.

President Track Club—R. R. Struthers, Med. '18.

President Football Club—J. P. Fawcett, Med. '18.

President Hockey Club — G. D. Scott, Sci. '18.

Secretary McGill Union — D. G. Dunbar, Sci. '18.

McGill's basketball teams scored two easy wins over the Macdonald College teams on Tuesday, defeating the first team by 27-8, and the junior team by 46-0.

William Tobin was crowned King of the Hawaiians by the class of Medicine '20 in the Union on Wednesday night with appropriate ceremony. Emperor Wilhelm, Mederic of Montreal, the King of Iceland and other dignitaries sent their apologies for their inability to be present at the function. Prince Bill Rubin and Prince Kanahana were, however, present, and tendered their congratulations to the monarch. Tobin excelled himself by singing "We All Went Home in a Cab" in Hawaiian.

The McGill C. O. T. C. is to be inspected by Brigadier-General Wilson on March 15.

is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robertson, 2432 St. Urban St.

Lieut. G. M. Taylor.

Lieut. George Melville Taylor, Sci. '15, wounded, is an Ottawa boy who joined the Canadian Engineers as an officer a year ago. He has been with the 11th Field Company in France for some time, being one of four McGill officers in the same unit. Lieut. Taylor was born in Toronto on December 6, 1891, and is the son of George W. Taylor, assistant deputy Minister of Inland Revenue, Ottawa. He is a member of Phi Kappa Pi fraternity.

Word has been received that Lieut. Taylor's wounds, suffered last Friday, are dangerous. He left Ottawa on May 21 last, with a draft of 200 Engineers. He went to France in October, 1916. Before enlistment, Lieut. Taylor was employed on the staff of the Montreal Terminals.

Major Charles G. Greenhields, of the 24th Battalion, who fought for France with the Foreign Legion in the early days of the war, was a member of the latest military party which has arrived at St. John, N.B. Major Greenhields has been twice wounded, and is now enjoying two months' leave and will at the end of that time return to his unit on the western front. He is a past student of McGill.

When asked as to conditions on the western front at the present time, he having left the front line trenches in January, Major Greenhields said: "There is to be a big clean-up this spring, and everything points to success."

He said that the artillery was being piled up. Already it had proven its superiority over the enemy. There were reports that large forces of cavalry are being prepared to sweep in after the infantry attack, and follow up the retreating Germans. There is a feeling of confidence that the spring of 1917 will see the widespread use of cavalry on the western front.

Col. Drum Promoted.

Colonel Lorne Drum, Arts '92, Med. '96, who was recently brought to the notice of the Secretary of State for War on account of the value of the services which he has rendered overseas, has been appointed assistant medical director of the Fifth Canadian Division, which has been undergoing organization for some time. Major C. A. Young, Med. '05, has been appointed deputy director of medical services for the division.

From further information which has reached the University, it is learned that the invention of Lieut. D. Stuart Forbes, M.C., Arch. '15, which was accepted by the War Office, was in the form of a chart which enabled gunners to get their heaves into position in an hour and a half, where it formerly took ten men ten hours to get them in order. It is said that Lieut. Forbes has received a further bonus from the Inventions' Board, but this cannot be confirmed.

The London Gazette announces that Capt. H. P. Stanley, Sci. '14, has been promoted to the rank of acting major while commanding a company of Canadian Infantry. Major Stanley left Montreal with the 73rd Battalion. He was well known as a track ath-

DEPARTMENT OF COLONIZATION, MINES AND FISHERIES.

The chief minerals of the Province of Quebec are Asbestos, Chromite, Copper, Iron, Gold, Molybdenite, Phosphate, Mica, Graphite, Ornamental and Building Stone, Clay, Etc.

The Mining Law gives absolute security of Title and is very favourable to the Prospector.

MINERS' CERTIFICATES.

First of all, obtain a miner's certificate, from the Department in Quebec, or from the nearest agent. The price of this certificate is $10.00, and it is valid until the first of January following. This certificate gives the right to prospect on public lands and on private lands, on which the mineral rights belong to the Crown. The holder of this certificate may stake mining claims to the extent of 200 acres.

WORKING CONDITIONS.

During the first six months following the staking of the claim, work on it must be performed to the extent of at least twenty-five days of eight hours.

SIX MONTHS AFTER STAKING.

At the expiration of six months from the date of the staking, the prospector, to retain his rights, must take out a mining license.

MINING LICENSE.

The mining license may cover 40 to 200 acres in unsurveyed territory. The price of this license is Fifty Cents an acre per year, and a fee of $10.00 on issue. It is valid for one year, and is renewable on the same terms, on producing an affidavit that during the year work has been performed to the extent of at least twenty-five days' labor on each forty acres.

MINING CONCESSION.

Notwithstanding the above, a mining concession may be acquired at any time at the rate of $5.00 an acre for SUPERIOR METALS, and $3.00 an acre for INFERIOR MINERALS. The attention of prospectors is specially called to the territory in the North-Western part of the Province of Quebec, north of the height of land, where important mineralized belts are known to exist.

PROVINCIAL LABORATORY.

Special arrangements have been made with the POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL of LAVAL UNIVERSITY, 228 ST. DENIS STREET, MONTREAL, for the analysis of minerals at very reduced rates for the benefit of miners and prospectors in the Province of Quebec. The well equipped laboratories of this institution and its trained chemists ensure results of undoubted integrity and reliability.

The Bureau of Mines at Quebec will give all the information desired in connection with the mines and mineral resources of the Province, on application addressed to

HONORE MERCIER,

Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries, Quebec.
